

I believe that XM radio should be free to deliver whatever content listeners are willing to pay for. I find it ridiculous that any consumer benefit can be construed from preventing satellite radio from offering localized content.